July 2, 2024

After mother nature washed out the first three attempts at night two of the “Too Tough To Tame” Stock car point series, Saturday, June 29, finally brought us the weather we needed to get a night of racing in. Thanks to a donation from Galloping Ghost Motorsports and Transportation the stock cars would be chasing a $1500.00 cash prize in a 25 lap feature event.

34 IMCA stock cars checked in for the evening, the top 4 from each heat would qualify for the A Main, the remainder would have to run last chance qualifiers to earn the chance at the top prize. And always competitive class, they never fail to put on exciting races for the fans. The A-Main line up would see Jeremy Christians and Shawn Wagner leading the pack of 24.

It was Dan Michonski after just a few laps who would jump out to an early lead, and as he began to put some distance between himself and the rest of the field, Travis Van Straten starting charging forward as did Nate Michonski, and Dylan Stedjee was also on the move from his mid-pack starting spot. A mid-race caution would prove to be in Van Straten’s favor as he made his way past Michonski as he would go on to claim victory, followed by D. Michonski, N. Michonski and Christians.

Travis Van Straten would also go on to win the 6x6 dash for cash sponsored by Mike & Nancy Hammond.

After two complete nights of the series, Kyle Frederick finds himself with a 10 point lead over the rest of the field. The final two nights of the series are scheduled for July 20, and August 10, 2024.
